REGIONAL GUIDANCE OF ASYLUM SEEKERS

OFII

OFFICE FRANÇAIS DE L'IMMIGRATION
ET DE L'INTÉGRATION

→ WHAT IS REGIONAL GUIDANCE?

● Regional guidance is an offer of accommodation made to you when the region you are in is not able to accommodate you.

You can then be supported in another region of France for the duration of your asylum application.

● You are an asylum seeker? You do not have stable accommodation? Whether you are an isolated person or a family, whatever your age or nationality, you can benefit from guidance to accommodation in the region.

→ AM I CONCERNED?

● You have health problems? Throughout France, medical centres, hospitals and specialised centres will be able to take care of you.

If, despite this, you think that you are not eligible for regional guidance, OFII will ask you to produce documentary evidence.

➔ HOW TO BENEFIT FROM REGIONAL GUIDANCE?

● Everything takes place during your interview with OFII, at the one-stop shop for asylum seekers (GUDA). If you do not have accommodation, an OFII officer can offer you regional guidance.

OFII will then inform you about your host region and the address of the host centre to which you should go. OFII will give you a transport ticket to enable you to go there within 5 days.

● You can refuse the regional guidance offer. If you refuse it, OFII will not offer you other accommodation and you will not receive the asylum seeker's allowance.

➔ WHAT KIND OF SUPPORT DO I BENEFIT FROM IN MY HOST REGION?

● When you arrive at the temporary reception centre, you will be provided with accommodation and social and administrative support for one month.

During this period, you will be directed to an accommodation centre in the same region, in a reception centre for asylum seekers or in emergency accommodation for asylum seekers, until the end of the examination of your asylum application (by OFPRA or the CNDA).

You will be domiciled in your host region, within your accommodation structure or, if you do not join it, within the first host facility located in the host department.

● Within the framework of the regional guidance stay in that region duration of the examination of your asylum application, otherwise you will lose your rights to material host conditions.

With the exception of summonses to OFPRA and CNDA, travel outside your host region will be subject to authorisation.

● For any questions relating to the implementation of the regional guidance, including on your domicile for your asylum application, you can contact the OFII territorial directorate in your host region.
